

Member of Scottish Youth Parliament (MSYP)

The Scottish Youth Parliament (SYP) is a non-political, youth-led organisation that seeks to represent and be representative of Scotland's young people aged 14-25. The SYP is designed by young people, led by young people ... for the benefit of young people. Eilean Siar has 2 seats at the SYP - our current MSYPs are Angel Newlands and Sandy Morrison.

Elections are held every two years, in which young people from all across Scotland stand as candidates to become Members of the Scottish Youth Parliament (MSYPs). The next elections will take place in March 2019. Expressions of interest are open to young people to submit until the end of October 2018.
