SUMMARY

This survey report presents an overview across a range of themes drawn from the results of the 2024 Employee Engagement Survey. This is now the fifth organisational wide survey that has been conducted and the results do indicate that there has been a shift in opinion across a wide range of factors in comparison to the 2018 survey results. It is recognised that there has not only been on-going planned organisational change and significant financial challenges but the Comhairle and its employees have faced additional challenges affecting both the workplace and individual personal lives.

Corporately there was a commitment to undertake an all staff survey every three years, events have, over recent years required that the focus be temporarily shifted to address immediate work relating circumstances. December 2019 saw the start of the COVID-19 pandemic, with national lockdowns affecting Scotland in early 2020. In June 2020 a COVID specific employee survey was undertaken to gain a better sense of current working practicalities and to gauge the impacts on employees both on a personal and professional level.

Following on from a period of COVID recovery the Comhairle was subject to a criminal cyber-attack on 7 November 2023. This attack resulted in the majority of councils systems being inaccessible and the loss of data. Services successfully implemented business continuity arrangements to ensure the ongoing delivery of key services whilst continuing to work on developing and implementing permanent solutions. Considerable progress has since been made in restorative work. Although there is now a greater sense of normality it is important to recognise that the workplace, and individuals' perspectives, have undoubtedly changed.

Based on the responses received it is very positive to note that employees report a consistent level of satisfaction at 69%, a further 46% of employees rated the Comhairle as the best/above average place to work and 45% confirmed that they were proud to work for the Comhairle. A range of other factors have also been reported at an increased level of satisfaction including pay, working hours and work life balance. An overwhelming 87% of respondents reporting that their work is important to them as it makes a difference.

The survey also identifies a number of areas for improvement. Employees report feeling disadvantaged particularly due to age, 12% of respondents and gender, 11% of respondents. The survey highlights an increase in accounts of bullying and/or harassment, the highest of which is reported from service users/general public. Although employees are now reporting over 50% of instances this level presents on-going concerns within the work environment.

Although 48% of employees think attendance is well managed across the Comhairle a further 52% of employees do not think this is managed well. Interestingly 78% of employees think that the current trigger points for employee review meetings under the sickness absence procedure are sufficient. Further analysis of the reported areas of concern will be undertaken to support improvement actions to more effectively support employees and address reported concerns.

Over 800 comments were received as part of the survey, common themes continue to include communication, training, increased staffing levels, reduced working weeks, pay, maintenance of buildings, workload, mental health and the management of staff absences. These comments will be shared with senior managers to help underpin further improvement planning.

In summary survey results establish that employees have demonstrated resilience and report increased levels of satisfaction across a range of work-related factors. Further work will be undertaken to analyse the valuable information provided within the survey in more detail. Recommendations will be made and aligned corporately to achieve continuous improvement across the Comhairle.

OBJECTIVES AND APPROACH

The Comhairle continues to recognise the importance of encouraging and supporting employees to share their views and work-related experiences and in turn contribute to future organisational development. Employees have had the opportunity to participate in organisational wide employee surveys since 2008.

The first comprehensive employee survey was carried out in 2008 by Ipsos MORI, an independent market research company. A Corporate Improvement Plan was then developed to address the key concerns raised by employees.

A second survey was undertaken internally using Survey Monkey in 2012 and the third employee survey undertaken in February 2015. The fourth employee survey was launched in June 2018 internally using Survey Moz. Survey results have now routinely formed part of the Comhairle's programme of corporate improvement planning and provided valuable evidence for continuous improvement activities across the organisation.

This fifth employee survey was launched in November 2024 internally using Smart Survey and in line with previous years a commitment made to share a summary of the overall results with employees and for those results to be published on the intranet.

Work was undertaken with the Recognised Trade Unions to develop the survey to make sure that the survey questions were relevant, meaningful and the results would provide measurable information and a level of consistent benchmarking information. This year the questions have again been grouped into several themed areas as outlined below:-

- Job Satisfaction
- Performance, Support and Training
- Digital
- Gaelic
- Discrimination/Bullying
- Management
- Sickness Absence
- Equal Opportunity Monitoring

All employees were also asked for several job-related details including length of service, department and section. These details allow a more in-depth analysis of the survey information and support the development of departmental specific improvements.

A full set of Equal Opportunity monitoring questions continue to be asked at the end of the survey to enable the Comhairle to monitor the effectiveness of its Equal Opportunities Policy and meet its legal obligations under the Equality Act 2010.

A response rate of over 40% has been the target for previous year's returns to ensure confidence in the survey results.

METHODOLOGY

All employees were invited to participate in the anonymous survey online using Smart Survey. For those who did not have access to the internet a paper questionnaire was made with a pre-paid reply envelope. The responses were analysed by the Human Resources team who ensured the confidentiality of the raw data.

A total of 729 questionnaires were completed and returned representing a response rate of 35%. The returns included 724 online returns (99%) and 5 paper questionnaires (1%). The response rates across each department are displayed below:

Department	Employees	Completed Questionnaires	% Return Rate
Chief Executive's	395	180	46%
Education & Children's Services	1068	292	27%
Health and Social Care	524	93	18%
Strategic Finance	78	28	36%
No Department Stated	-	136	-
TOTALS	2065	729	35%

Recent organisational restructuring has seen both Technical Services and the Development Department merge under the Chief Executives Department, the combined return rate of 46% is comparable to the collective return rate of 45% in 2018. Education and Children's Service return rate increased from 22% in 2018 to 27% in 2024 whilst Strategic Finances response rate fell from 59% in 2018 to 36% in 2024. The return rate from across the Health and Social Care service remained at 18%.

It is positive to note that only 135 employees did not share the department in which they worked compared to 355 employees in 2018, this suggests an increased sense of confidence relating to the level of confidentiality around the data.

Survey Findings 2024

Job Satisfaction

Job Satisfaction

Job Satisfaction is commonly linked to employee morale, increased commitment and productivity and reduced sickness absence rates. Results show that employees levels of satisfaction across the Comhairle remain high at 69%, this is an increase compared to the reported levels of 64% in 2018.

It is hugely positive to note that despite continuing financial constraints and on-going periods of change for staff that the reported levels of job satisfaction have increased.

Gaelic in the workplace

This is now the fourth time employees have been asked to share how they use Gaelic in the workplace, additional questions have been included to gauge attitudes towards learning.

As reported in 2018 the use of spoken and written Gaelic is rarely used by employees in a formal setting. On a positive note Gaelic is used more often informally amongst colleagues.

It is reported that 60% of employees are aware of internal learning opportunities and 60% of employees also report being willing to improve Gaelic skills.

Open Ended Questions

Throughout the survey there were a number of open-ended questions to allow employees to provide additional comments, over 800 comments were received. These comments will be shared with senior managers to support further improvement planning. Nearly 300 comments were received in relation to Gaelic, 81 relating to health and 117 detailed home working arrangements.

All employees had the opportunity to suggest changes that they felt would make the Comhairle a better place to work. Approximately 381 employees made comments. Common themes included communication, training, increased staffing levels, reduced working weeks, pay, maintenance of buildings, workload, mental health and the management of staff absences. Below are several examples of employee comments and suggestions: -

“What single change would you suggest to make the Comhairle a better place to work?”

“Ensuring that all staff working within a particular department have the same vision and goals and heads of service value the opinions of all staff in relation to changes and improvements”

“Start replacing staff that have retired / left. Remaining staff are having to take on extra work and most services are struggling to cope”

“Longer working hours during the week to contribute towards a 4 day working week. This would increase morale as more rest days are available”

“Tighten up on sickness absences”

“Paying staff unsocial hours at weekends would make it more attractive to staff, it would also ensure staff worked these shifts and didn't pull out of them at the last moment”

“Extra admin staff to free up Senior Management and other roles to do their own jobs more efficiently”

*“In house childcare. Drop in facility for staff to discuss wellbeing needs.
Discounted gym membership or free gym membership”*

“We used to get the employee newsletter and know who had started and who had left the organisation. Now I see faces around, and have no idea who they are. Could ID badge photos go against names in the internal phone book?”

“Employees being asked to create a handover before they leave their position within the Comhairle”

“Transparent and timely communication throughout the organization”

“Better collaboration between departments and services”

“More further education opportunities”

“Better communication from the top down including a sense of vision and corporate direction”

“Honesty and transparency with staff. real commitment to wellbeing and trauma centered care. Listen to staff about their services”
